this book brings together selected papers from scientists theologians and philosophers who took part in the 2021 conference of the european society for the study of science and theology based in madrid spain the contributions constitute a cutting edge resource for considering questions from interdisciplinary perspectives covering both the crucial role played by images and models in our thinking and also the limitations which are inherent in these linguistic devices questions addressed include can this use of images and models generate a creative pluralism enabling us to think outside the disciplinary silos which are a feature of academic discourse can they enable fruitful synergistic interdisciplinary conversations this book will appeal to students and academics alike particularly those working in the fields of philosophy theology ethics and the history of science a diverse cast of contributors explore the wide reaching practice and theology of mission during this era rather than a century bereft of cross cultural outreach we find both reformers and roman catholics preaching the gospel and establishing the church in all the world this overlooked yet rich history reveals themes and insights relevant to the practice of mission today book cover in commonwealth and covenant marcia pally argues that in order to address current socioeconomic problems we need not more economic formulas but rather a better understanding of how the world is set up an ontology of how we and the world work without this good proposals that arise lack political will and go unimplemented pally describes our basic setup as separability amid situatedness or distinction amid relation though we are all unique individuals we become our singular selves through our relations and responsibilities to the people and environments around us pally argues that our culture s overemphasis on separability individualism run amok results in greed adversarial and deceitful political discourse and chicanery resource grabbing broken relationships and anomie maintaining that separability and situatedness can and must be considered together in public policy pally draws on intellectual history philosophy and especially historic christian and jewish theologies of relationality to construct a new framework for addressing present economic and political ills many christians still do not understand the concept of god they think that just by being a christian they are guaranteed salvation and will go to heaven because of this thinking they feel free to sin and live in hypocrisy moreover many christians go to church but do not understand who god is why should they worship god is the god of christians the same as the gods of other religions why should they go to church additionally there are many dilemmas in life especially those related to christian ethics such as is smoking a sin is drinking alcohol allowed and many more questions that are difficult to answer this book presents answers from a biblical perspective so that ordinary christians can easily understand the truth for young people this book is a must have and an important resource may this book be a blessing to many people soli deo gloria the law of freedom justice and mercy in the practice of law examines the legal and theological roots of the concept of equity and the implications that the diminishment of equity as a legal concept has for the moral dilemmas faced by the practicing lawyer meditating on the book of micah the book argues that the christian duty asks for both strict justice and gracious mercy with the prophet s third value humility essential for both the individual lawyer and the legal system as a whole to balance strict justice and mercy pascal d bazzell brings the marginal ecclesiology of a filipino ecclesial community facing homelessness fech into contemporary ecclesiological conversation in order to deepen the ecumenical understanding of today s ecclesial reality he contributes relevant data to support a theory of an ecclesial oriented paradigm that fosters ecclesial communities within homeless populations there is an extensive dialogue occurring between ecclesiologies church planting theories or urban missions and the urban poor yet the situation with the homeless population is almost entirely overlooked the majority of urban mission textbooks do not acknowledge an ecclesial oriented state of being and suggest that the street level environment is a place where no discipleship can occur and no church should exist by presenting the fech s case study bazzell emphasizes that it is possible to live on the streets and to grow in the faith of god as an ecclesial community to be able to describe the fech s ecclesial narrative bazzell develops a local ecclesiological methodology that aims to bridge the gap between more traditional systematic and theoretical ideal ecclesiology and practical oriented ecclesiology e g congregational studies in order to hold together theological and social understandings of the church in its local reality he articulates a theological framework for the fech to reflect on who they are the essence of identity studies who they are in relationship to god the essence of theological studies and what that means for believers in that community as they relate to god and to each other in ways that are true to who they are and to who god intends them to be the essence of ecclesial studies the research provides a seldom heard empirical tour into the fech s social world and communal identity the theological findings from the fecht's hermeneutical work on the gospel of mark reveal an understanding of church being developed as gathering around jesus that creates a space for god's presence to be embodied in their ordinary relationships and activities and to invite others to participate in that gathering moreover it addresses ecclesial issues of the supernatural world honor shame values and further develop the neglected image of the familia dei in classical ecclesiology that encapsulates well the fecht's nature mission and place pastors regularly face concrete ethical questions and they too pursue a moral life in the busyness of ministry it can be tempting to think pragmatically or derive one's ethics from the latest cultural concerns but standard approaches to ethics whether deontological utilitarian or virtue ethical all fall short of being distinctly christian ethics ought to be grounded in the gospel and in our triune god in pastoral ethics w ross hasting provides pastors with an evangelical and trinitarian framework for moral formation and ethical discernment for hasting's ethics must be reclaimed as theological theology without ethics becomes gnosticism ethics without theology leads to legalism and death christian ethics participates in god's life and god's work this communion with god leads to obedience to his commands as summed up in the decalogue and over several chapters hasting provides a rich exposition for pastoral formation pastors find their identity in god and this inspires right thinking and acting with regard to authority life and death sexuality work and rest speech and desires an approach to ethics that prompts faith hope and love pastoral ethics is an essential guide for christians in all ministry contexts the word theology is often construed by many as referring to a very dry and academic discipline only reserved for the professional clergy and seminary professors many lay christians in the church are intimidated by the subject and feel it to be a tedious intellectual exercise that is of no use for their spiritual growth and mission of the church in an attempt to address this concern mark kim presents here an introductory systematic theology that deals with the core doctrinal topics of christianity that is accessible for the average layperson the work will engage heavily with scripture and the voices of the past and present who have contributed to the total theological voice of the church at large in this second edition of the work there is included an extra chapter on the doctrine of the christian life as pointed out in the first edition of the work theology should foremost be practical in its results and application the author addresses this concern by including a new chapter discussing the nature of the christian life and how christians should live in the world in some of the church s history scripture has been pitted against tradition and vice versa prominent new testament scholar edith humphrey who understands the issue from both protestant and catholic orthodox perspectives revisits this perennial point of tension she demonstrates that the bible itself reveals the importance of tradition exploring how the gospels acts and the epistles show jesus and the apostles claiming the authority of tradition as god s word both written and spoken arguing that scripture and tradition are not in opposition but are necessarily and inextricably intertwined humphrey defends tradition as god s gift to the church she also works to dismantle rigid views of sola scriptura while holding a high view of scripture s authority
